

Lightforth — Quick Notes

Sales Tips

Discovery

- Ask open-ended questions, let them talk — aim for 70/30 listening
- Get a real job posting from them before the demo, not a generic example

Demo

- The Interview Copilot live-suggestion moment is the close — let the silence sit after it appears
- Answer "isn't this cheating?" before they have to ask

Closing

- Propose the 14-day trial as the next step, not a future decision
 - "When would you like to start?" not "Would you like to start?"

Competitor Quick Reference

Teal

- Strength: Free tracker, big user base
- Weakness: No Auto-Apply, no live interview coaching
- Our advantage: Whole funnel through the live interview

Kickresume

- Strength: Resume templates and design
- Weakness: Stops at the document
- Our advantage: ATS-matched tailoring per job + application + interview support

Jobscan

- Strength: Well-known ATS score
- Weakness: Score only, doesn't rewrite for you
- Our advantage: Scores AND rewrites AND applies AND preps

Big Interview / Pramp

- Strength: Structured mock-interview practice
 - Weakness: Practice only, nothing live in the real interview
 - Our advantage: Copilot works during the actual interview

Objection Quick Reference

"Too expensive"

→ "What's one job worth to you? Pays for itself if it gets you hired even two weeks sooner."

"Isn't this cheating?"

→ "It surfaces your own experience faster — it doesn't invent one for you."

"Already tried a competitor"

→ "What was missing?" — usually: nothing followed them into the real interview.

"Need to think about it"

→ "Trial's free, no card. Try it on your next real application instead."

Talk Track Quick Reference

Opening: "Where are you in your search right now — just starting, or already interviewing?"

Demo: "Send me a real job posting — I want to show you this on something that matters to you."

The moment: "Watch this — suggested answer appears live, during the real interview, invisible to the interviewer."

Close: "Want to start the trial now and tailor your resume for that posting?"
